The Governing Body is a group of people that are responsible for the overall management of the school. The Governing Body ensures the school is well run, so that teaching and learning can be at its best.

Governors are not experts in education and the Head Teacher is responsible for the quality of teaching and for managing the staff team.

How have the Governors contributed this year?

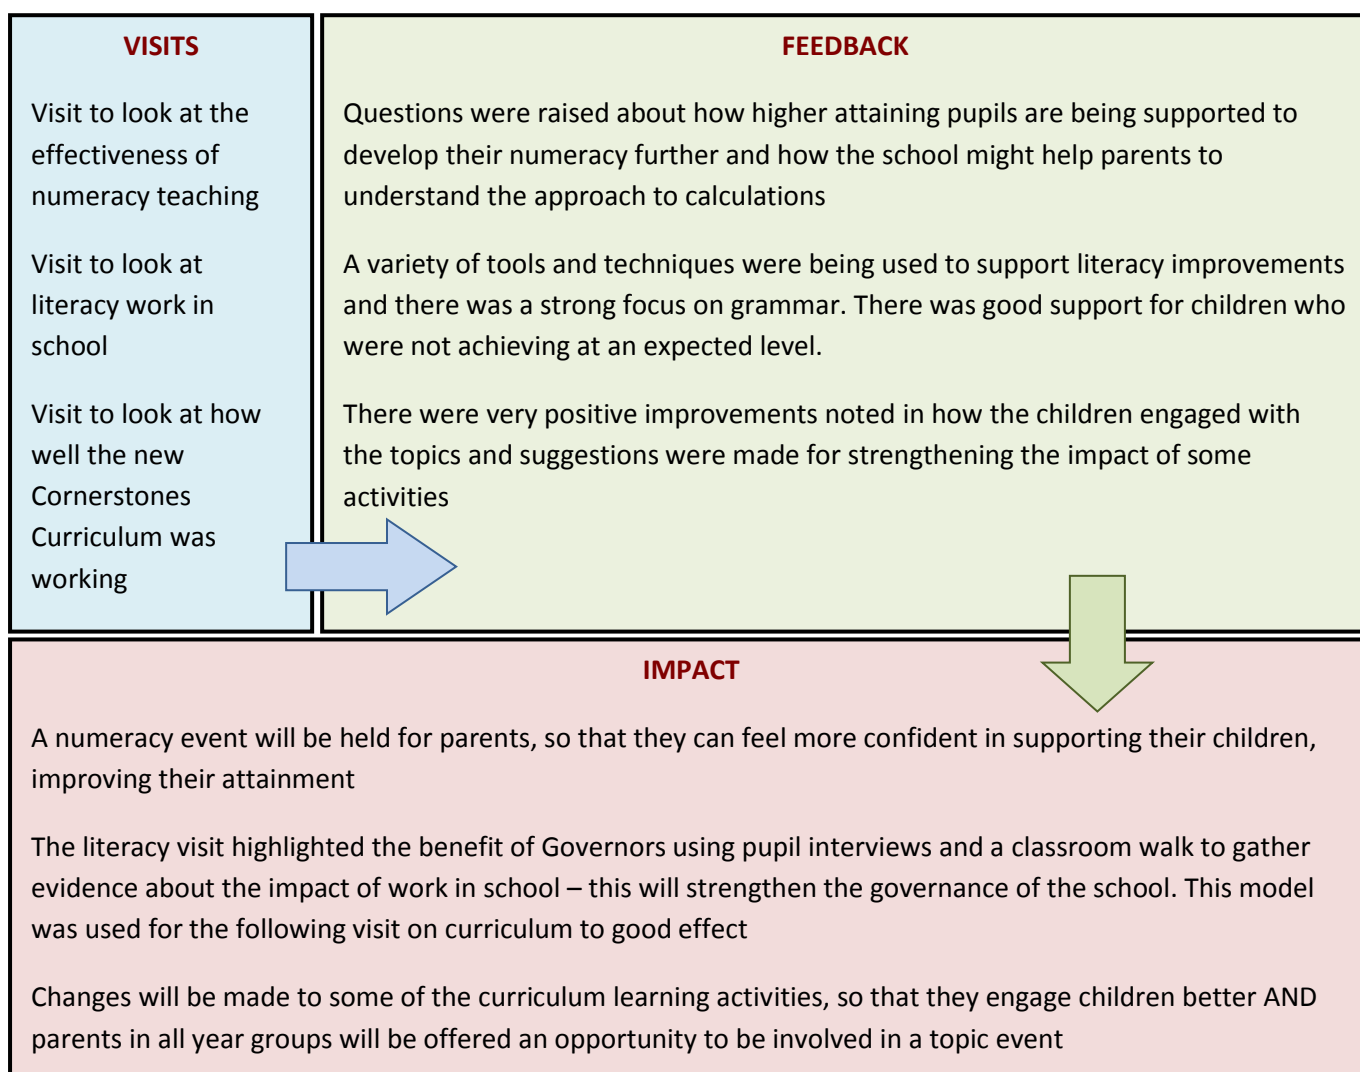

The whole Governing Body meets together at least once a term to review school progress. Each Governor is also on one or more committees, which also meet once a term, looking at essential aspects of school life.

The Health and Safety Committee has considered improvements to the school building, such as the tyre park and toilet refurbishments. The committee ensures that the school is safe – a recent examination was held of pathways to assess the need for improvements.

The Curriculum Committee oversaw the introduction of the new curriculum, received presentations from teachers about key changes and asked questions to ensure the school is well prepared. This included reviews of Read Write Inc and of provision for children with special educational needs. Pupil progress is a key focus and the school is challenged and supported to achieve high standards of attainment.

The Finance and Staffing Committee has supported the management of the school budget. Governors have been involved in recruiting new teachers during the year, sitting on interview panels and helping children to be involved in the selection process. The committee has also agreed certain pay arrangements, in line with the duties of the Governors.

Visiting the School is a key part of a Governor's role. Several visits have taken place, which help Governors to monitor the effectiveness of the school and see how policies are being put into practice to benefit children's learning. Governors do not assess the quality of teaching.
